Aerial Hammer Blows Struck in Latest Non-Stop Flight
by Allied Bombers—Genoa Harbor Bombed—Marshalling Yards at Ancona and Rimini Hit — Four Axis Aircraft Shot Down.

ALGIERS, Nov. 2.—(INS)—Large sections of vital railroad rights of way, rolling stock, bridges and other highly important communications facilities lay in ruins behind the German lines today as a result of the latest non-stop Allied aerial hammer blows.

American Flying Fortresses dived over the Genoa area to bomb the Spezia harbor and to drop high explosives on a strategic bridge at nearby Vezzo Lignero. Other bombers blasted the Adriatic coast marshalling yards at Ancona and at Rimini, 60 miles to the northwest. Heavy damage was reported at Rimini.

RAF craft attacked the enemy-held rail yards at Via Regio, north of Pisa. Fighter-bombers destroyed enemy trucks and rail lines in patrols over the battlefield. Four Axis aircraft were shot down during the day. Two Allied planes failed to return.

ALGIERS, Nov. 2.—A spectacular blow against the flank anchors of the new German line running from the west coast to the Venafro Mountains, the U. S. Fifth Army today pierced through and threatened the Germans' most formidable defenses south of Rome.

American troops shattered the German right flank anchor by storming the towering ridge of the Matese chain, therewith placing themselves in control of the upper eastern Volturno Valley and the Isernia highway. Venafro itself stands within easy artillery range of the American troops.

The British of the Fifth Army left flank staged an equally spectacular move by smashing the Ger-

THE WAR AT A GLANCE

By International News Service

Adolf Hitler and Emperor Hirohito, the Axis big shots, are doubtless a couple of unhappy fellows today.

Militarily, their armed forces are taking a pasting from all quarters.

Politically—and militarily, too—the accord signed in Moscow by the United States, Great Britain, Russia and China, bodes ill for Germany and Japan in the future progress of the war.

Highly authoritative diplomatic sources in Washington pointed out that the Moscow pact blasts any hopes Japan may hold for a compromise or negotiated peace in the Pacific.

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

By FRANK R. KENT
(Distributed by McNaught Syndicate, Inc.)

Willkie And The Negroes

Washington, Oct. 29.—THE SITUATION which the aggressive candidacy of Mr. Willkie has made in the Republican party is not wholly without humor. Certainly, there is something amusing in the inability of the Republican politicians who so violently oppose him to conceal their inner anxiety lest they have guessed wrong and the ubiquitous and turbulent gentleman from Indiana not only acquire the nomination but be elected as well.

THEIR bitterness toward Mr. Willkie is intense. Particularly is this so among Republican Senators. Four fifths of these are exceedingly hostile to this nomination, and it is probably true that most of the Republicans in the House are distinctly unfriendly. In addition, a WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—(INS)—The Government re-entered the coal mining business today, directing a half-million striking miners to report back to their jobs without a day's delay.

President Roosevelt ordered seizure of the mines for the second time this year to break a fourth paralyzing general work stoppage that threatened to impede prosecution of the war.

"The mines will be opened by the Government on Wednesday morning," he said. "Every miner will be required to report to work."

Name Director For The Bensalem Jr. Roll Call

CORNWELLS HEIGHTS, Nov. 2.—Lower Bensalem Branch of American Red Cross held its monthly board meeting on Friday in Bensalem High School. Mrs. Roscoe Perkins presided.

Mrs. Norman Gaugler, chairman of Junior Red Cross, announced that the roll call will begin in the schools on November 15th.

Miss Thelma F. Miller, art instructor for the township schools, has accepted the appointment of director for this program.

Mrs. Robert Barnhill, production chairman, reported that Mrs. C. Burnley White's Edgington surgical dressing unit accomplished 2,018 dressings in 288 hours, 27 women participating; Mrs. Arthur Davis' Andalusia group, 1637 bandages in 394 hours, 27 volunteers taking part.

Mrs. Barnhill said a service kit fund had been formed for the purpose of buying articles required to fill kits. So far the account reads: $22.76, proceeds derived from a card party given by production a fortnight ago. Donations regardless of amount will be accepted by Mrs. Thomas Gardiner, Andalusia, treasurer of this fund. Five afghans had been received from Mrs. Walter H. Gillette, head of Newportville sewing unit, fulfilling their first assignment. They are now working on 25 service kits.

Mrs. Thomas R. Powell, blood donor chairman, told the board a blood donor honor roll was now available for industries, clubs and organizations. The size of the hand-somely decorated cardboard honor roll is 17x24 inches, with space for 108 names of persons donating blood.

A Kurtz King, first aid chairman, informed the chair that Mrs. Thomas R. Powell will conduct a first aid standard and refresher course, beginning Thursday, Nov. 4th, at eight p. m. at the Union Fire Co. station, Echo Beach.

Mrs. John M. Whyte, secretary, mentioned that her son, PPC Robert R. Whyte, attached to the air force command in Alaska, recently returned home on furlough, told her that at every station and airport during the 6,000 mile journey the Red Cross was on hand. Coffee and food was served to service men at all stops. It also attended to telegrams for the boys and assisted them in every way possible.

RAIN MAY RETARD SOME TRUCK HARVESTS

Waiting for Ground to Dry
So As To Harvest Rutabagas, Celery

RAIN DOES SOME GOOD

The heavy rains of the past several days had its advantages and also its disadvantages, according to William F. Greenawald, county farm agent.

This is especially true in the lower part of Bucks County, where truckers are hoping the ground will dry soon so they will be able to harvest their rutabagas, carrots and celery.

As a result of the rain, Mr. Greenawald said, wells and streams have been replenished, and it will no longer be necessary for farmers to carry water for their stock and poultry. A large number of farmers during the past few weeks found it necessary to go to other sources for water, but the volume of rain has been so heavy that the wells are now supplied sufficiently.

Many of the farmers, said Mr. Greenawald, were unable to do their fall seeding because the soil was too dry. Seeding, which should have been done several weeks ago, likely will not be done any more this season, by many, but it is probable a few farmers will try to seed their ground if it becomes dry enough.

The ground has become so saturated that it may be some weeks before the farmers will be able to get their combines on it to harvest the soy bean crop, and the harvesters to gather the corn crop, about 50 per cent. of which has been completed.

The Germans are said to have evacuated this city. That's perfectly understandable on other than military grounds."

Lt. Barrett practiced law in Bristol before entering the service.

Marines Invaded Jap-Held Island, Knox Reveals

Washington.—Secretary of the Navy Knox revealed today that American Marines carried out the invasion of Japanese-held Bougainville Island in the Solomons and also added that the U. S. Fleet is ready to fight the Japanese Navy anywhere.

Knox was asked if the American Navy was ready for a "showdown" battle with the Japanese fleet should the enemy move in force in an attempt to check the latest Allied thrust. He replied: "We have been hoping that the Japanese surface forces would come out for a long time but we have failed to find them in force anywhere."

NEW PROSPECTORS

Science has at last invaded a field which has long been associated with just the opposite of test-tube exactitude. This new advance by science was made known by Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes when he revealed that Uncle Sam has set up a "grubstake" of $3,000,000 with which to send out prospectors in search of much-needed war metals.

The old time prospector, although he employed a smattering of science, was primarily an individualist who relied on luck, pluck and common sense when he set out on his lonely travels in search of a new Comstock lode or another bonanza vein. For traditionally the precious metals which attracted prospectors were gold and silver—everything else was a waste or an actual hindrance. Science has changed all that. Now prospectors are being sent in an effort to turn up usable deposits of tungsten, vanadium, manganese, tin, iron and nickel.

These new prospectors, thanks to science, will be a different breed from the pack toting "sour-dough" of the Klondike rush. Then a man's equipment included only a pan, a pick and necessary food as well as a gun. Today's prospectors will have at their service many scientific devices which will make their job easier and much more certain of results.

Today's prospectors will be able to cover a much larger territory in a shorter time. In fact, the new government-subsidized hunt for metals will range through thirty states. The hunt will be concentrated not only on critical and essential metals but also will assay the worth of coal indications in Nevada, the industrial diamond "digging" in Arkansas and other mineral signs ranging from asbestos to zinc in widely scattered areas.

When workable sources of these metals are found, the war effort will not be benefited so much, because it may require too much time for effective production to get under way, as will the postwar industrial economy of the nation through the availability of raw materials close at hand.

Sun spots may be partly to blame for the war, but it was the spots Hitler had before his eyes that really started it.

Nov. 4—Luncheon given by Ladies' Auxiliary in Union Fire Station, Cornwells Manor.

Nov. 8—Card party, in P. O. S. of A. Hall, sponsored by Camp 89, P. O. of A.

THIS TIME, Mr. Wilkie is the only open and active candidate for the nomination. He has been working like a beaver for the last two months. For the next eight, all his energy and time will be devoted to promoting his candidacy. No other man mentioned for the nomination is in position to challenge him. The two other outstanding possibilities—Governor Dewey and General MacArthur—are debarré not only from any movement in their own interests but from any encouragement of their friends. The general, by his position, and the Governor, by his public and private statements, are removed from the field and could enter only in the event of a genuine and utterly unplanned "draft" such as has never occurred before.

COUPLE all this with the facts that Mr. Wilkie has a potent press support and a real popular following, and, despite the bitterness toward him, his advantages in the nomination are obvious.

We Have a Victory Worker Ready to Move In

The production front is just as important to victory as the fighting front. In order to keep up production of Plexiglas, Crystalite, Lethane, Primal, Lykopen and other vital war materials, we must bring in workers from outside areas—and they must have living quarters.

If you have a spare room for a man or woman in Bristol or vicinity, here is a chance to help the war effort and add to your income at the same time. Phone Bristol 875—ask for Personnel Dept. If you have registered your room with us, be sure to phone us whenever it is vacant, so we can send you a new roomer promptly.

tion race are obvious. As for the election, his friends point out that Mr. Roosevelt defeated him in 1940 by a majority of less than 5,000,000; that in the nature of things the President cannot be as strong now as he was then; that a shift of less than half a million votes in the pivotal States would reverse the result; that Mr. Wilkie has not lost strength since 1940, but gained it, and that the Republicans who oppose him for the nomination will support him after he gets it.

ALL OF this, of course, a one-sided argument and will be vigorously disputed by those who regard Mr. Wilkie as almost as much a New Dealer as Mr. Roosevelt and hold it would be "suicidal" for the Republicans to nominate him. There are a good many such in the party. Nevertheless, there is one asset which Mr. Wilkie has acquired since 1940 that ought not to be overlooked. This is the progress he has made with the Negro vote, which more or less holds the balance of power in eight or nine pivotal States above the Mason and Dixon line. In 1936 and again in 1940, though for fifty years this vote had belonged to the Republican party, Mr. Roosevelt got more than ninety per cent of it. This was partly due to Federal patronage and the WPA, but a very great contributing factor was Mrs. Roosevelt. Mr. Farley, who directed the early New Deal strategy to capture the Negroes, thinks she should get the largest credit.

NOW THE claim is made by his friends—and also by some detached and posted observers—that Mr. Wilkie has acquired great strength among the Negro leaders; that he would poll more Negro votes against Mr. Roosevelt than any other Republican candidate; that he is, in fact, as popular as Mr. Roosevelt with them, though not as popular as Mrs. Roosevelt. There are a number of reasons for this, but mainly it is due to his plea to the moving picture industry, a year or so ago to cease discrimination against the Negroes. This plea was so earnest and impassioned as to sweep the important Negro leaders who heard it off their feet and win for Mr. Wilkie their unstinted friendship and gratitude. The really practical politicians believe that any considerable loss of his Negro support would more surely defeat Mr. Roosevelt than anything else. Certainly he could not have won without it last time.

Dear Sir: After going through bombings and other terrifying experiences "somewhere in the Mediterranean Area," I am glad to write you of a pleasant surprise that awaited another American soldier and me, at a small Italian town, the day Italy surrendered.

ants, who were celebrating the surrender. They placed a large American flag in our care and begged us to lead a parade. They treated us to food and even kissed us (which was very agreeable as some of the lassies were very beautiful). I shall never forget it. Another great and edifying experience was the pilgrimage to the personnel of the 5th Army to the Isle of St. Paul, where St. Paul was shipwrecked. All knelt at the feet of the great statue, the first American troops to ever visit this spot, so sacred to all Christendom. I was prompted to write a little poem in a ruined cathedral at the Isle of Malta. Poor verse, but the sentiment is true! I enclose it for your approbation, giving my love to all the Bristol folks.

ON THE SCREENS

GRAND THEATRE

Radio fans like to be credulous, declares Harriet Hilliard, screen and broadcast favorite appearing currently in "Honeymoon Lodge," at the Grand Theatre. During the making of the new film musical, Miss Hilliard told fellow members of the cast that many radio fans seriously believe the counterparts of herself and Red Skelton as, presented on the air.

One-third of the letters she receives ask, "how can you be so mean?" Miss Hilliard, who plays the mother to Skelton's Junior on the radio program, also revealed that much of her mail comes from mothers who want to know how to promote singing careers for their progeny.

RITZ THEATRE

American musical, "Flying With Music," now at the Ritz Theatre, has achieved one childhood ambition, is well on the road to achieving another. When Bill was a kid he determined that some day he supply of milk

SUPPLEE

Creamed Cottage Cheese

is being temporarily
discontinued

TO SAFEGUARD the quantity of fluid milk available for your neighborhood in the immediate future, Supplee is voluntarily (and temporarily, we hope) discontinuing the production of this locally famous dairy food. We regret the removal, even for a limited period, of so nutritious, delicious and popular a food from among those available on your wartime table. BUT — you will agree that fluid milk, the most vital of all fresh, natural foods, must be kept flowing in adequate quantities to your family and all who need it in your locality — new babies, mothers, invalids, war workers, soldiers in nearby camps!

THAT'S going to be our most important concern this winter! And, unfortunately, nobody can press a button or concoct a formula for making milk. Only a cow can do that. For despite the best efforts of every one and of this company, your old friend Bossy, down on the farm, isn't having too rosy a time these days. The drought ate up a big share of her winter feed supply... shortages, high prices of feed, shipping difficulties and labor scarcity all have taken their toll, so that production of fluid milk is showing more than a normal seasonal decline — just when extra war demands of all kinds must be made upon the supply.

WE KNOW you will understand this. And that you will appreciate the sincere effort Supplee is continuing to exert to bring you as much fine milk as possible during this period of shortage — and to see that it is equitably distributed to all. It is not necessary, we feel sure, to ask you to safeguard your own supply of Supplee Sealtest Milk after it reaches you. Keep it refrigerated and away from light, so that it loses none of its vitally important nutritive elements. Keep it covered, to guard flavor. Use up one bottle before opening another. That way, your family will secure the utmost benefit from this important food. It will reach them, as it leaves us, with all its nourishment intact — as fine as we can supply.

American Soldiers On Duty In India Are Very Well Fed

dia, while 30 per cent of their food is obtained through local purchase by the messes, which submit the bills to the Quartermaster for payment.

Most important item to American soldiers wherever they go is meat, particularly steaks, but obtaining beef in India is a ticklish problem. A large portion of the population of India is Hindu, and the Hindus resent slaughter of cattle which they consider sacred.

Out of respect for Hindu sensitivity on this subject it is necessary to slaughter cattle in places removed from the native population. Slaughtering is done in small establishments by the British.

The cattle which are slaughtered are a mixed breed difficult to classify. The sturdy oxen seen pulling carts everywhere throughout the Orient are far better animals than those made available for slaughter.

The cattle from which the Army obtains beef are skinny, underfed animals, and the quality of the meat has long been a sore point with American authorities. It is only recently that the Americans have been allowed the privilege of having one of their own veterinarians present at the slaughter house to reject beef from animals which he considers below the standard set for American troops.

There are laws in India which further hinder the purchase of beef. It is not lawful to slaughter male cattle unless they are at least 10 years old, and it is illegal to kill cows which are in milk.

The meat is bought through the British on reverse Lend-Lease, and they allow the Americans the same ration which they grant their own soldiers. A new agreement provides that all beef be purchased through reverse Lend-Lease.

Local purchase is necessary because there are practically no refrigeration facilities available in India or China, and there are few refrigerated railway cars. Meat must reach the troops soon after it has been slaughtered or it spoils.

Meats other than beef are not bought to any extent in the Orient. No pork is purchased because it is not believed that hogs in India are fit for human consumption.

Chickens in the Orient are smaller and less tasty than those in America. The same is true of the eggs, which are much smaller and have a distinctly different taste from those in the United States.

There are areas in this theatre of operations where it is difficult to get fresh meat to American soldiers, as, for example in Assam on the Burma frontier. Until recently troops in that area lived on tinned meats, principally corned beef. Now an arrangement has been worked out under which the British supply them with one ration of beef a week. Another ration of frozen beef is flown into Assam from Calcutta, and this is welcome relief to soldiers who shudder at the sight of corned beef.

All of the fresh vegetables eaten by American soldiers in the China, Burma, and India theatre are purchased locally. Staples such as carrots, peas, string beans, potatoes, and onions are available here in sufficient quantities to meet the American army's needs. Vegetables which are peculiar to the land and unfamiliar to Americans have been avoided wherever possible.

Canned foods obtained from the British under reverse Lend-Lease have proved extremely satisfactory. About 85 per cent of the canned goods which the Army gets from the British always includes familiar American brand names like "Heinz" or "Campbell."

The War At a Glance

Pacific. Under the Moscow agreement the U. S., Britain and China solemnly pledged they will wage war against Japan until that country surrenders unconditionally. This represents the first time that China has joined in an official declaration to apply the policy of unconditional surrender to Nippon.

And as the Nazis flee from the speedily advancing Soviets on the Russian front, they too, now know that Soviet Russia will under no circumstance consider a separate peace but will fight on until the Nazis surrender unconditionally.

Thousands upon thousands of the battle-worn Nazis and many of their Romanian satellites today face capture or annihilation where they are cut-off in the Crimea or are in danger of being trapped between the jaws of a rapidly-closing Russian pincer movement in the Dnieper bend.

The Axis forces were trapped in the Crimea when the Red Army severed their last avenue of escape by land with the capture of Perekop and Armyansk. The fourth Ukrainian army burst through the Germans' powerful fortifications at Turkeys-Val, "the Turkish wall."

In thus closing the jaws of the Crimean trap, the Russians virtually encompassed the whole of the Nozais Steppe and during the past three days recaptured 410 occupied localities. In Monday's fighting from the Perekop Isthmus to the Krivoi Rog and Nikolop sectors in the Dnieper bend, the Russians claim to have killed more than 5,700 Nazis. In the past 48 hours, according to a Moscow communique, more than 6,000 Nazi officers and men and "vast quantities" of materiel were captured.

Similarly, German arms were being fiercely battered on the Italian front where, despite horrible weather which bogged down our assault forces, the Allied Fifth and Eighth armies increased their threat to the German defense line which runs across the Italian peninsula.

"If the Jap fleet comes out I will welcome it," MacArthur declared. "I would throw everything I have against it."

In Washington there was no doubt that America's Pacific Fleet was fully prepared for any possible counter-blow by Japanese sea power which might follow this latest Allied landing in the Solomons.

For weeks now it has been no secret in the U. S. capital that America's rapidly-expanding fleet and air forces have been seeking a showdown battle with Hirohito's remaining naval units. But so far the Jap ships have not accepted the

U. S. Light Cruiser "Savannah" is Damaged

Washington—The Navy disclosed today that the American light cruiser Savannah was damaged by an enemy bomb off Salerno, Italy, and that "material damage and some casualties were sustained."

"Despite the damage, the Savannah continued to operate against the enemy effectively, and . . . helped to cover the landing of troops on Italian soil," the Navy added.

The fire ignited by the bomb was placed under control in 20 minutes and the wounded were treated immediately and transferred to other vessels.

mans out of important positions on the Massico Ridge and capturing Casanova. This formidable barrier, apparently about to fall entirely into Allied hands, dominates all approaches from a radius of many miles.

The advance was pressed in the face of stubborn resistance by the Nazi units seeking to bolster the western end of the line threatened by repeated powerful Allied thrusts.

Further ground was gained at the same time by the southern wing of the British Eighth Army on the eastern sector. Strong pressure was maintained by the Eighth all along its front from Central Italy to the Adriatic Coast.

Outside of a lone contest for the minority County Commissioner, Bucks County's election today is without any particular fight for selection of county officials.

The county is predominantly Republican, the official figures for the 45,900 registered voters being 30,884 Republicans; 13,239 Democrats; 1673 No Party affiliations; and 104 all other parties.

Republican County Chairman A. Harry Clayton, of Doylestown, looks for a larger majority in proportion to the vote cast than in some years because many New Dealers have turned to the Republican ranks.

The one fight staged by the Democrats is between Democratic Chairman Roger O. Mason, of Doylestown Township, who is seeking the minority county commission, over his Democratic opponent, Edward C. Hancock, of Doylestown Township, dark horse who won out in the primary. Colonel Mason, an active veteran of several wars, is far better known and has served one year as a deputy county treasurer under a Democratic appointment.

The only woman on the Republican ticket is Mrs. Leonora H. Leator, of Riegelsville, candidate for Clerk of Orphans' Court. The Democrats have two women on the county ticket, Mrs. Irene A. Stackhouse, of Morrisville, for Register of Wills, and Mrs. Alma F. Kirkpatrick, Quakertown, for Clerk of Quarter Sessions.

The Bucks County ballot includes: Register of Wills: Mrs. Irene A. Stackhouse, Morrisville (D), and Marvin V. Keller, Newtown (R). County Treasurer: Julian S. Gancarz, Falls Township (D); John L. Stover, Warwick Township (R). Clerk of Orphans' Court: James H. Slater, Sr., Upper Makefield Township (D); Mrs. Leonora H. Leator, Riegelsville (R).

Clerk of Quarter Sessions: Mrs. Alma F. Kirkpatrick, Quakertown (D); Harry W. Wambold, West Rockhill Township (R). County Commissioner: Edward C. Hancock, Doylestown Township, and Colonel Roger O. Mason, Doylestown (D).

Others attending were: Mrs. F. C. challenge. The Nipponese vessels

A wave of "wildcat" strikes started more than two weeks ago when Ickes restored all of the mines to private ownership.

The Union now has an opportunity to obtain from the Government the new contract which it has sought since last March 31.

At its initial session yesterday the policy committee took no action other than to select a subcommittee composed of the UMW's 28 district presidents to consider the WLB wage proposal and make recommendations.

Edward R. Burke, spokesman for the southern Appalachian coal producers, pledged the operators to co-operate with Federal mine custodian Ickes, but said it was unfortunate that no other remedy than seizure of the mines was open to the government.

"It would seem that in a sensible and reasonable society there should be some way of punishing the guilty one and not the innocent party," he said.

It's always a big crowd in these war days. But the Long Distance operator keeps the calls moving quickly unless they just get too many for the circuits. • If she says the circuits are busy, you can help by canceling your call if it isn't really important. But if you can't cancel, the operator will request—"Please limit your call to 5 minutes. Others are waiting." It's the work of war we are trying to speed over the wires.
